

REUNION AT WHITE SULPHUR.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Feb. 14.—The large colony already assembled here for the spring season is looking forward to the first annual Washington's birthday anniversary ball, which will be given next Saturday evening. Special trains will be run on Friday night from New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and Richmond for the accommodation of many of the summer colony who will have a sort of reunion here over the holidays. Special events at the Greenbrier Golf Club have been arranged for Saturday and there will be a number of dinners and other functions to add to the gaiety.

Holiday riding continues to be one of the chief diversions here and nearly every day finds some interesting mountain trip or saddle picnic on the programme. Howard Willets, who came down from New York with Frank L. Hall and Mr. and Mrs. J. Mace Willets, made the record of the week when he left the New Greenbrier early yesterday morning, took the stiff ride of eighteen miles over steep paths and mountain roads to the summit of Hickory Knob and returned in less than three hours.

William Allen Butler, who arrived ten days ago with the Misses Lydia Col and Louise Butler, Charles T. Butler and Miss Helen Hyde of Plainfield, is here for the spring season. The Misses Butler, their brother and Mrs. Hyde have been engaged on a school to all the nearby points of interest and not infrequently open the morning tramping over the hills in regulation walking costume, and the afternoon in the saddle, covering often a score of miles.

The affair of the season here so far was, of course, the marriage of Miss Louise Carey of Baltimore and Dr. Joshua Rosett, socialistic physician, editor and playwright. Dr. Joshua Rosett, who lives in Baltimore, where the doctor is stationed at Johns Hopkins, will keep him for a year after the wedding. Mrs. Rosett plans to write a series of stories covering her experiences while pursuing investigations for the United States customs and during her work as a factory inspector and picket. Mrs. Rosett told the writer that for a long time she had only awaited the time and opportunity to take up this writing.

The White old hotel here is being entirely remodeled and done over, in anticipation of the spring and summer seasons, when reservations are unusually heavy. Every cottage with the exception of half a dozen, and there are sixty in the grounds, has been leased for the spring season, and now the old hotel has been brought into requisition and when the architects, decorators, painters and others finish their work it will rival in luxury and comfort the New Greenbrier. Rows of large comfortable rooms have been entirely remodeled and large private baths, sitting rooms and clothes closets, which were unknown when the old structure was built nearly eighty years ago, have been put in every bedroom suite throughout the hotel.

Mr. Richard Stevens, who arrived here month ago as an invalid, has entirely recovered and has been out every day of the past week, having joined the contingent that divides its time between the canes and mountain climbing.
